	A/E Battery, 1st Regiment, Royal Horse Artillery.		Captain (T/Major) Guy Patrick Gregson, R.H.A.,	During the operations 21st Nov - 24th Nov, 1941, in support of the 32nd Army Tank Bde, outside TOBRUK, this officer has handled his Battery with the greatest skill and determi- nation. By his many personal reconnaissances, he has ensured that the best possible support has been given at the right time. On the 3rd December, on one occasion, 24 enemy tanks were in the area of ED DUDA. He went to the top of the hill, climbed into a derelict "I" tank, and ranged his guns on the enemy Whilst being fired on by tanks and anti-tank guns, he personally fired the two-pounder in the "I" tank. His quick grasp of the sit- uation, and the immediate response from his guns undoubtedly were largely instrumental in the holding of ED DUDA.	Major D.J.F. Turnbull, D.S.O., R.H.A.,	M.C.
